

A Mind in Motion

The Art of Charles H. Forrester

Curated by Winifred Forrester

THE BOOK

Immerse yourself in the masterful collection of Charles H. Forrester, whose six-decades worth of art seeks to reveal a man and a mind in constant motion.

A Mind in Motion: The Art of Charles H. Forrester offers an in-depth guide into the mind and artistic legacy of the artist. Curated by Forrester's daughter, Winifred, the book tastefully exhibits his collection of sculptures, now on display across the world. The book takes readers through his journals, drawings, and sculptures to reveal his steady pursuits in linking desires, memories, experiences, and knowledge. Forrester consistently pushed himself in the exploration of various mediums. His mastering of each displayed his ability to create remarkably realistic details that were still exceptionally stylized and often abstracted.

THE PLAN

- Forthcoming documentary viewing at various film festivals worldwide
- Upcoming exhibitions in regional museums
- National Media Campaign
- Focused publicity campaign

THE AUTHOR

Winifred Forrester, daughter of Charles Forrester, took early retirement in 2018 from her life-long career as a financial advisor to curate her father's artwork and journals covering nearly 60 years. She is executive producer for the short documentary, A Line Unbroken: The Charles Forrester Story premiering in Fall 2020.

Guy Jordan is an Associate Professor of Art History in the Department of Art at Western Kentucky University where he teaches courses in WKU's Art History and Brewing and Distilling Arts and Sciences programs. His writing on topics such as Thomas Cole, Charles Deas, and the roles of food and drink in American art has appeared in the journals American Art, Panorama, and Visual Resources.
